Sec. 2. And be it further enacted, That if any officer or other person named in the first section of this act has died since the fourth day of March, eighteen hundred and sixty-one, or shall hereafter die, by reason of any wound received or disease contracted while in the service of the United States, and in the line of duty, and his widow, or if there be no widow, his child or children under sixteen years of age, shall be entitled to receive the same pension as the husband or father would have been entitled to had he been totally disabled to commence from the death of the husband or father, and to continue to the widow during her widowhood, or if the child or children until they severally attain to the age of sixteen years, and no longer.

Sec. 3. And be it further enacted, That where any officer or other person named in the first section of this act shall have died subsequently to the fourth day of March, eighteen hundred and sixty-one, or shall hereafter die, by reason of any wound received or disease contracted while in the service of the United States, and in the line of duty, and has not left or shall not leave a widow, or legitimate child, but has left or shall leave a mother who was dependent upon him for support, in whole or in part, the mother shall be entitled to receive the same pension as such officer or other person would have been entitled to had he been totally disabled; which pension shall commence from the death of the officer or other person dying as aforesaid: Provided, however, That if such mother shall herself be in receipt of a pension as a widow, in virtue of the provisions of the second section of this act, in that case no pension or allowance shall be granted to her on account of her son. And provided, further, That no money shall be paid to the widow, or children, or any heirs of any deceased soldier on account of bounty, back pay, or pension, who has in any way been engaged in or who have aided or abetted the existing rebellion, or the rightful claim of such disloyal widow, or children, heir or heirs of such soldier, shall be vested in the loyal heir or heirs of the deceased, if any there be.

Sec. 4. And be it further enacted, That where any officer or other person named in the first section of this act shall have died subsequently to the fourth of March, eighteen hundred and sixty-one, or shall hereafter die, by reason of any wound received or disease contracted while in the service of the United States, and in the line of duty, and has not left or shall not leave a widow, or legitimate child, nor mother, but has left or may leave an orphan sister or sisters, under sixteen years of age, who were dependent upon him for support in whole or in part, such sister or sisters shall be entitled to receive the same pension as such officer or other person would have been entitled to had he been totally disabled; which pension shall commence from the death of the officer or other person dying as aforesaid, and shall continue to the said orphans until they severally arrive at the age of sixteen years, and no longer. Provided, however, That nothing herein shall be so construed as to entitle said orphans to more than one pension at the same time, under the provisions of this act. And provided, further, That no money shall be paid to the widow, or children, or any heirs of any deceased soldier on account of bounty, back pay, or pension, who has in any way been engaged in or who have aided or abetted the existing rebellion, or the rightful claim of such disloyal widow, or children, heir or heirs of such soldier, shall be vested in the loyal heir or heirs of the deceased, if any there be.

Sec. 5. And be it further enacted, That if any officer or other person named in the first section of this act has died since the fourth day of March, eighteen hundred and sixty-one, or shall hereafter die, by reason of any wound received or disease contracted while in the service of the United States, and in the line of duty, and has not left or shall not leave a widow, nor legitimate child, but has left or may leave an orphan sister or sisters, under sixteen years of age, who were dependent upon him for support in whole or in part, such sister or sisters shall be entitled to receive the same pension as such officer or other person would have been entitled to had he been totally disabled; which pension shall commence from the death of the officer or other person dying as aforesaid, and shall continue to the said orphans until they severally arrive at the age of sixteen years, and no longer. Provided, however, That nothing herein shall be so construed as to entitle said orphans to more than one pension at the same time, under the provisions of this act. And provided, further, That no money shall be paid to the widow, or children, or any heirs of any deceased soldier on account of bounty, back pay, or pension, who has in any way been engaged in or who have aided or abetted the existing rebellion, or the rightful claim of such disloyal widow, or children, heir or heirs of such soldier, shall be vested in the loyal heir or heirs of the deceased, if any there be.

Sec. 6. And be it further enacted, That the pensions which may be granted, in pursuance of the provisions of this act, to persons who may have been or shall be employed in the military or naval service of the United States, shall commence on the day of the discharge of such persons in all cases in which the application for such pensions is filed within one year after the date of said discharge; and in cases in which the application is not filed during said year, pensions granted to persons employed as aforesaid shall commence on the day of the filing of the application.

Sec. 7. And be it further enacted, That the fees of agents and attorneys for making out and executing the papers necessary to establish a claim to a pension, bounty, and other allowance before the Pension Office under this act, shall not exceed the following rates: For making out, and causing to be duly executed a declaration by the applicant, with the necessary affidavits and for warding the same to the Pension Office, with the requisite correspondence, five dollars, in case wherein additional testimony is required by the Commissioner of Pensions, for each affidavit so required and executed and forwarded, (except the affidavits of surgeons, for which such agents and attorneys shall not be entitled to any fee), one dollar and fifty cents.

Sec. 8. And be it further enacted, That any agent or attorney who shall, directly or indirectly demand or receive any greater remuneration for his services under this act than is prescribed by the preceding section of this act, or who shall contract to prosecute any claim for a pension, bounty, or other allowance under this act, on the condition that he shall receive a per centum upon, or any portion of the amount of such claim, or who shall wrongfully withhold from a pensioner or other claimant the whole or any part of the pension or allowance and due to such pensioner or claimant, shall be deemed guilty of a high misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall, for every such offence, be fined not exceeding three hundred dollars, or imprisoned at hard labor not exceeding two years, or both, according to the circumstances and aggravations of the offence.

Sec. 9. And be it further enacted, That the Commissioner of Pensions be and he is hereby empowered to appoint, at his discretion, civil surgeons to make the biennial examinations of pensioners which are or may be required to be made by law, and to examine applicants for invalid pensions, where he shall deem an examination by a surgeon to be appointed by him necessary; and the fees for each of such examinations, and the requisite certificate thereof, shall be one dollar and fifty cents, which fees shall be paid to the surgeon by the person examined, for which he shall take a receipt, and forward the same to the Pension Office; and upon the allowance of the claim of the person examined, the Commissioner of Pensions shall furnish to such person an order on the pension agent of his State for the amount of the surgeon's fees.

Sec. 9. And be it further enacted, That the Commissioner of Pensions, on application made to him in person or by letter by any claimants or applicants for pension, bounty, or other allowance required by law to be adjusted and paid by the Pension Office, shall furnish such claimants, free of all expense or charge to them, all such printed instructions and forms as may be necessary in establishing and obtaining said claim: and in case such claim is prosecuted by an agent or attorney of such claimant or applicant, on the issue of a certificate of pension or the granting of a bounty or allowance, the Commissioner of Pensions shall forthwith notify the applicant or claimant that such certificate has been issued or allowance made, and the amount thereof.

Sec. 10. And be it further enacted, That the pilots, engineers, sailors, and crews upon the gunboats and war vessels of the United States, who have not been regularly mustered into the service of the United States, shall be entitled to the same bounty allowed to persons of corresponding rank in the naval service, provided they continue in service to the close of the present war; and all persons serving as aforesaid, who have been or may be wounded or incapacitated for service, shall be entitled to receive for such disability the pension allowed by the provisions of this act, to those of like rank, and each and every such person shall receive pay according to corresponding rank in the naval service: Provided, That no person receiving pension or bounty under the provisions of this act shall receive pension or bounty for any other service in the present war.

Sec. 11. And be it further enacted, That the widows and heirs of all persons described in the last preceding section who have been or may be employed as aforesaid, or who have been or may be killed in battle, or of those who have died or may die of wounds received while so employed, shall be paid the bounty and pension allowed by the provisions of this act, according to rank, as provided in the last preceding section.

Sec. 12. And be it further enacted, That the Secretary of the Interior be and he is hereby authorized to appoint a special agent for the Pension Office, to assist in the detection of frauds against the pension laws, to cause persons committing such frauds to be prosecuted, and to discharge such other duties as said Secretary may require him to perform; which said agent shall receive for his services an annual salary of twelve hundred dollars, and the actual traveling expenses incurred in the discharge of his duties shall be paid by the government.

Sec. 13. And be it further enacted, That all acts and parts of acts inconsistent with the provisions of this act be and the same are hereby repealed.

WEDNESDAY MORNING, NOV 12 1862

New Overland Route.

The Washington Statesman of November 8th publishes the arrival at that place of a party of emigrants from across the plains who started from Fort Ambercrombie on the extreme western boundary of the State of Minnesota The train consisted of about 130 emigrants, including thirteen families bound for the newly discovered gold mines of Oregon and Washington Territory These emigrants were accompanied by a small military company, commanded by Captain James L Fisk sent by the Government to protect the train The train left Fort Ambercrombie on the 7th of July last, and a portion of them arrived at Walla Walla on the 1st of the present month, making the entire trip in less than four months

The small sum of $5 000 was set apart last Spring for the purpose of sending an escort to aid and protect such emigrants as desired to cross the plains over the northern route from Fort Ambercrombie to Fort Benton, which it was thought might prove better and easier than any heretofore pursued The design tion of this route and of Captain Fisk to its command, was made at so late a day, that but little time could be given for those who might wish to join the train to make their arrangements so to do, and the emigration was consequently much less than it would otherwise have been Fort Ambercrombie was the place of rendezvous, and the train, consisting of 130 emigrants, including 13 women and 53 wagons, a 12 pound Mountain howitzer and 220 head of stock, mostly oxen, started from that post on the 7th of July, and under the guidance of Pierre Bottineau, struck out in a due west course, over a country where there was no trail and where no white man had traveled, except where their route and that of Gov Stevens in 1853 would occasionally coincide The country first traveled over was a rich, well grassed and level prairie affording a good road and plenty of water and grazing, and chequered with an abundance of beautiful lakes

The party were obliged to construct but three bridges, and were not delayed more than a couple of days The prairie was level or only gently rolling until they reached Fort Union, with the exception of the Coteau de Missouri, which is very hilly, and which they were two days in crossing They reached Fort Union—trading post of the American Fur Company, on the Missouri at the mouth of the Yellowstone, 467 miles from Fort Abercrombie—on the 26th of August From Fort Union to Fort Benton, a distance of 367 miles, their route lay up the Missouri and Milk river valleys, and was generally level and easy They arrived at the latter Fort on the 5th of September. From that point their route was over Lieut Mullen's road. About sixty of their party stopped on the other side of the mountains in the Prickly Pear valley, where they found gold prospects and a good place to winter This valley is 150 miles this side of Fort Benton and along the Prickly Pear river—a tributary of the Missouri — This valley abounds with game Some others of the party stopped in the Bitter Root valley, and upwards of twenty have come to Walla Walla

The longest drive without water was that of twenty miles, on this side of Snake river, and grass was plentiful all the way with the exception of a short distance along Milk river and in the Coeur d'Alene mountains On the sixth day out from Abercrombie they killed three buffalo, and were at no time without a superabundance of fresh buffalo meat from that time until they arrived in the immediate vicinity of Fort Benton The number of buffalo seen along the route is estimated at from three to four millions, and several were killed every day

The Indians met with occasioned no further trouble or annoyance than their begging habits always inflict on travelers There was not an animal lost on the whole trip, and the health of the party was excellent That portion of the country passed over, which is devoid of timber, was covered with buffalo chips, which answer every purpose for fuel

This expedition, therefore, which was projected and conducted as an experiment, seems to have demonstrated the entire practicability of this route, and to recommend it highly for future emigration to the rich gold fields and farming lands west of the mountains Capt Fisk stopped several days with the emigrants who remain behind Since leaving Deer Lodge he has traveled leisurely on account of his stock, but could have arrived here two weeks earlier

This expedition with the very limited means at its disposal, has certainly made a remarkably successful journey and one that may be fraught with very important results

LIBERAL —We notice quite lengthy lists of contributors to the U S Sanitary Commission published in the Puget Sound papers which furnishes the gratifying and creditable evidence that the citizens of our sister Territory are fully alive to the calls of humanity, and possess a generous liberal and patriotic spirit indeed commendable and praiseworthy One small place, Port Madison, which is a milling establishment settled only by hard laboring men and a few families gave the sum of $700 00, other similar places were equally as liberal The names of several Indians of that Territory are among the list of contributors to this fund.

AUBURN CITY ELECTIONS —An election for municipal officers was held at Auburn, Pow der river, on the 4th inst, which resulted as follows Mayor Jacob Norcross Recorder O M Rome, Treasurer J J Dooley Aldermen J Lovell, A C Lowring, D M Holknapp, D A Johnson, and J R Totman Total number of votes polled 49

Another Eldorado

In conversation a few days ago with a gentleman just down from Colville we learned some interesting facts in relation to the country east of that point and on the Big Bend of the Columbia river Mr [illegible] has been at and near Lake Pend d'Oreille since last spring, left Colville to search for gold on the head waters of the Pend d'Oreille river — They followed up this stream to its source, some distance beyond the lake and found favorable indications of paying mines from the foot to near the summit of the mountains where the river takes its rise Passing over the divide to the Kootenai river they found the prospects much more favorable there and in many places five to ten dollar diggings Returning, they crossed to the Flathead and Big Blackfoot rivers and found prospects still more favorable But Kootenai the prize sought Indians, whom they supposed to be in, so the Bannock tribe they were afraid to remain long in that section of country They then turned across the mountains to the heads of the St Joseph and Coeur d'Alene rivers and found better prospects than on either of the other streams; and on a camas prairie of small, between the St Joseph and Coeur d'Alene they found what our informant thinks will prove better diggings than any yet discovered in the upper country There were four men in the company of prospectors named John Miner Ben Pugit, P K Cowles and R R Wheel One object of the company in leaving Colville was to find a party of miners who were reported to be at work somewhere near the Boundary Pass they having been told by the Kootenai Indians that there was such a party there They express the opinion that it is too late for miners to go to that country this fall but promise to pilot any number of them thither in the spring. They are all Californians and have gone below to winter If their statement be true—and we have more reason to believe than to doubt it from the fact that it corroborates with others heretofore published—the opening of rich mines in that direction will work material changes in the progress of affairs in the upper country —Walla Walla Statesman

COL STEINBERGER'S REGIMENT — The Washington Statesman of November 8th, in speaking of an item published by us some days ago relative to the resignation of Capt D Taylor says

We notice a statement copied into the Oregon papers that Capt Daniel Taylor of the Washington Territory volunteers, has resigned his commission, assigning as a reason that Col Steinberger's regiment is undisciplined With those personally acquainted with resigning captain this statement would have little force In justice to Col Steinberger and the Washington Territory volunteers we will say that they sustain the reputation of being the best disciplined regiment on the Pacific coast and taking the action and management of the companies that have been stationed at Fort Walla Walla as a criterion, we feel assured in saying that this reputation is well deserved The true cause of Taylor's resignation was that there was too much discipline for his purposes But it is well for the regiment that he resigned, for his place is now filled by a gentleman and soldier—Sergeant W W Thompson who was promoted from the ranks for his service to this position

GOODS FOR BOISE —A merchant informs us that at a moderate estimate, not less than $125 000 worth of goods have been sold in this city within the past ten days for the Boise mines alone —Walla Walla Statesman

RESIGNED —The Mountaineer says Geo F Graves, Esq, County Judge of Wasco, has resigned his position in order to accept the U S Deputy Collectorship of Internal Revenue Messrs Olney and Denny are named to come with the vacant place

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov 7 —Collector Rankin received a dispatch yesterday from Gen Wright at Drain of Massachusetts stating that the cavalry company to be raised here for Massachusetts is to join Gen Banks' forces in Texas The route by which they are to [illegible] that has not yet determined

The following cases are set for trial to-day:
State of Oregon vs John P. Denison.

L. Peterson vs J. Koenig, and
W. H. Burnett vs James Burk.

MORE TREASURE.—We omitted to mention in yesterday's issue that Mr. J. C. Franklin of Moesman & Co.'s express, brought down $21,500 in treasure by the Julia on Monday evening. And still it comes.

NO RAIN YET.—Although the elements above have been combining and mixing up in a murky, lowering, threatening attitude for several days, trying to squeeze out our regular allowance of Oregon mist, still no considerable amount has yet descended. Judging from former amounts of rain that has collected and fallen previous to this time in former years, we conclude that water must have collected at least ten inches deep in or on top of the clouds, by this time, which will certainly descend in the course of time, and when it does come, then look out for another one of Whitaker's floods.

ARRIVED.—The steamship Sierra Nevada arrived at this city yesterday morning at 9 o'clock, having grounded upon Swan Island Bar from 11 P. M. the night previous. She brings 500 tons freight, assorted merchandise, and a small number of passengers. We are indebted to the Purser for the following list of passengers:

Mr. Schreck, Rosenthal and lady, E. Smith, W. H. Rush, Virgil Draper, P. H. Lynde, Ford and lady, E. G. Reed, G. M. Alley, H. Lyon, J. Hellifer, W. Beck, H. Waldeman, Capt. Lyle, J. Parham, Mrs. Brown, P. Peck, V. Blum, Jacob Mayor, H. Wasserman, M. Stein, J. Greer, T. Newman and lady, J. Cooke, M. Crawford, R. F. Hanes, Mrs. Quimby, Mrs. Sarah Matthews, Mr. Ramsey and family, Mrs. Flinn and family, and 16 in the steerage.

THEATRICAL TROUPE.—We understand that several of the dramatic profession arrived on the Sierra Nevada, and may be expected to give a few pleasing entertainments at the Theatre shortly.

SAILS.—The Sierra Nevada is advertised to sail for San Francisco via Victoria this evening at 8 o'clock.

NICE.—The way Fred Muller can serve up the testaceous bivalves and pickled pigs-feet, etc., etc., at the Pony Sample Room, is truly inviting and delicious, splendiferous and elegant. Fred. knows how to cater for the public in genuine and approved style.

THANKS.—To Wells, Fargo & Co. for files of late California and Eastern papers, also to Mr. A. G. Barbydt, post office news depot, for late illustrated periodicals. Mr Barbydt's establishment in the post office building of this city is fast becoming a very popular depot, and deserves a liberal patronage.

FRESH OYSTERS.—The lovers of good eating will take notice that Frank Dekum has just received a large lot of fresh oysters, which will be served in any style desired, at his Saloon on First street.

"NONPAREIL SALOON."—As will be seen by reference to new advertisements in to-day's issue, Maj. E. Treat Gunn has refitted, beautified, ornamented and handsomely decorated this fashionable resort in the city of Olympia, Washington Territory, where he will dispense the best of wines, liquors, cigars and other beverages and luxuries in high toned and elegant style. From a personal knowledge of the gentlemanly and courteous disposition of Maj. Gunn, we are satisfied that he does not keep any "musket" or "Minnie rifle" stuff on hand, nothing but the pure, genuine article. 'Tis'n often we indulge, but should we ever call on our friend Treat, we shall expect him to treat us—as a friend.

PACIFIC RESTAURANT.—We call the attention of our readers, and more especially the traveling public, to the advertisement in this morning's issue of "Pacific Restaurant." Rebecca Howard, proprietress, Olympia, W. T. We speak from actual knowledge when we say that there is no better restaurant on the Pacific coast, and all who may have occasion to go to Olympia, the capital of Washington Territory, should certainly put up at that establishment, if they wish for good fare and comfortable, pleasant and agreeable accommodations. The tables of this restaurant are constantly filled with the best the country affords, besides oysters, clams and fresh fish in abundance, served up in the latest and most approved style. "Aunt Becca" knows how to keep a restaurant—you bet.

COLUMBIAN No. 3.—Meeting this afternoon at 3½ o'clock, for the purpose of housing the Engine. Come one, come all.

FIELD'S STEAMED OYSTERS!

MR. A. FIELD, whose Oysters have long enjoyed the highest reputation in this market, has recently invented an entirely new process of cooking which preserves entire advantage over the one hitherto employed. It so preserves the natural flavor of shellfish as to shape of the Oyster that they may be either Stewed, Fried, Scolloped or Fancy Roasted—in fact cooked in any manner adapted to those just taken from the shell. They will not be broken into pieces by hard travel, however lengthy, and will retain their sweetness, after the cans is cut, longer than secured by any other method.

Shipments arrived and for sale by all the Grocery Jobbers in San Francisco.

SEWING MACHINES ARE UNEQUALED BY ANY FOR BEAUTY AND SIMPLICITY OF CONSTRUCTION
—AND—
Efficiency in Working.

A GOOD SEWING MACHINE
SHOULD BE WELL MADE, simple in its construction and easily kept in order; should make a stitch alike on both sides of the material and should sew any and all materials that can be sewed.
It should be able to use the thread it sells direct from the spool, and sew from fine to fine and from thick to thin with rapidity and with ease, changing the tension if necessary, and be able to make the tension greater or less, at will, the under and upper threads and with uniformity. It should have a short pointed needle, curved once in its length.
The needle should have perpendicular motion—this is absolutely necessary for heavy work.
It should be able to make a long or short stitch, and should be always ready to work.
It should be capable of using the same size thread on both sides of the work, and of using different colored thread or silk, above or below, to correspond with any two colors of cloth to be united.
It should be able to make a long or short stitch, and to fasten off the seam and commence sewing lightly at the first stitch, and to run easily, and make but little noise.
It should have a wheel feed, no others are in constant contact with the work.
It should not be liable to get out of order; neither should it require a new driver or wrench to set the needle.
It should not be liable to mal the operator's dress.
It should not form a ridge on the under side of work.

DR. BAKER'S
PAIN PANACEA.
Is composed entirely of healing gums, and vegetable oil and herbs. It is perfectly safe for the most delicate to use. I can most sincerely say that I have never known any how over delicate to be injured by it in the least. I will continue to ask the afflicted who have not used it to try it for the following diseases. If they are not satisfied with its healing properties the money will be cheerfully returned by the agent of where the medicine is for sale.
If you have pain in the stomach or bowels, try a dose of Pain Panacea internally, bathe externally over the parts affected, and you will at once restore the proper action and relieve the pain.
If you have a Bruise or Wound, bathe it well with the Pain Panacea four times a day. It will relieve the pain, and take out all the poison, and heal the wound in a short time.
If you are suffering from Neuralgia or Rheumatic Pains, apply the Pain Panacea freely, and take a dose of it internally, morning, noon and night, it will not only cure the pain, but will remove the cause of the disease.
If you have the Dyspepsia, and your food distresses your stomach after eating, take a dose of Pain Panacea after each meal.
If you have a Cankered or Sore Mouth or Throat, apply the Pain Panacea to the affected parts, and gargle the mouth or throat three or four times a day.
If you have the Diarrhœa or a relaxed state of the bowels, take a dose of Pain Panacea, and they will soon be restored. If you have a painful swelling, bathe the parts freely, and you will soon relieve pain, and the swelling will be reduced.
If you have a severe tooth-ache, apply the Pain Panacea on a piece of cotton and bathe gum at the same time, it will stop the pain instantly.
If you have a pain in the Breast Side, Back or Kidneys, bathe parts affected morning and night, at the same time take a dose of the Panacea internally.
If a Mother has a caked breast, apply the Panacea as hot as it can be borne.
If you feel chilly or cold, as though you were going to have a fever, take a dose of Panacea.
If you have a wound, cut or galls upon your horse, apply the Pain Panacea. It will take out all the inflammation and heal the sore in a short time.

Ashamed of her Father.

"Clinkerty, clinkerty, clink!" sounded out the hammer of worthy Giles Hardy, as the sparks flew, and the red gleam brightened the smutty timbers within the shop and shone across the greensward over the way, where the village boys were playing with kite and ball. You might think his lot a hard one, toiling as he was wont, from morning till night, did you not hear his glad song rising above the din he was wielding. "I'm going home," and "Happy day," were ever on his lips, and music and gratitude dwelt in his heart; therefore he was one of the happiest men in W. Giles lived in a little house so near the shop that it was covered with the soot and cinders from the forge. From its door might often be seen his little Sallie running over to admire the sparks which she called "soldiers," or to lead her father home when the day's toil was over and the evening meal was waiting. She was not ashamed of his smutty face his bare, brawny arms, or his soot-begrimmed clothes; not she. In her loving eyes, Giles was the most beautiful man alive.—She was not old enough to know that men are too often honored in this world for their garments rather than for their worth; so she imagined that everybody esteemed him just as she did.

A new house had been erected on a high hill near, by a fine gentleman from the city; and Sallie was quite delighted to see in his carriage drawn by two bay horses, a sweet looking little girl about her own age. Once when they stopped to say something to Giles about shoeing the horses, and Sallie smiled at Lucy, who in return threw her a great red apple. She caught it so nice that they both laughed heartily and became friends, for children have none of that mean pride which we sometimes see among older people till they are taught it.

One day, when Sallie was dressed very neatly, she asked leave to take a walk, and bent her steps toward the mansion on the hill. She did not know how to go round by the road, so she climbed over fence and wall till she reached the ground. There, to her delight, she saw Lucy on a little grey pony, which the coachman was leading carefully by the bridle. She drove up to the wall, and asked in a kind voice, "Have you berries to sell, little girl?"

Sallie laughed, and said "No, I'm Sallie; don't you remember me? I came to play with you a little while. May that man open this great iron gate for me? It is very heavy."

"I should like to play with you, and to let you ride on my pony," replied pleasant little Lucy, "but I know mamma wouldn't allow me to play with you."

"Why not?" asked Sallie in wonder. "I never say naughty words, and I'm dressed clean."

"Oh," said Lucy, "it is because your father works with his shirt-sleeves rolled up, and has a smutty face and hands."

"Oh, the smut washes off!" replied the innocent child. "He's always clean in the evening; and when he has his Sunday clothes on, he's the handsomest man in the world! Mother is pretty all the time!"

"Oh, but—mamma would not let you in I know, because your father shoes horses," sighed Lucy.

"That's no harm, is it? Don't your father want his horses shod?" asked the wondering little Sallie.

"Yes; but he won't let me play with poor people's children," replied Lucy.

"We're not poor; we're very rich;" replied Sallie. "Father owns the house and the shop, and we've got a cow, and a calf, and twenty chickens, and the darlingest little baby boy in the world!"

But after all this argument little Lucy shook her head sadly, and said "I wouldn't dare to ask you in; but I'll give you some flowers."

So Sallie went back over fence and wall, wondering much at what had passed.—Then, for the first time in her life, she wished that her father would wear his Sunday clothes all the week, just as the minister and the doctor and Lucy's father did. She almost felt ashamed of him—so noble and kind and good—as she entered the shop to wait for him. She stood by the forge trying to enjoy the sight of the sparks as they danced and fought each other after each stroke of the hammer. But her thoughts were so troubled that she could not see them, nor the beautiful pictures which she had always found before in the blazing fire; mountains, castles, churches, angels, were all gone and there was nothing left in the black shop but a coal fire, hot sparks, and a smutty man. Tears came into Sallie's eyes, but she crowded them back because she could not tell why she shed them.

The fire was out, the blacksmith pulled off his apron, laid aside his hammer, and took the soft hand of Sallie in his own hard and smutty one. For the first time in her life she withdrew it to see if the black came off. Just then the cars came in, creaking and whizzing; and to her joy she saw little Lucy standing on the platform waiting for her father. The conductor helped him from the steps and he called out to Lucy, "Take my hand child;" but she put both hands to her face to hide it, and sprung back into the carriage alone; while the coachman, with a blushing face, almost lifted the finely dressed gentleman into it. Oh, what a sad, sad sight! He had been drinking wine till his reason was gone, and he could not walk, so his own sweet child was ashamed of him.

"Oh, father!" cried Sallie, "I was so wicked that I was just beginning to be ashamed of you because your face is black, and you did not dress up like a gentleman all the time. I'm so glad you are a blacksmith instead of a drunken man! Poor, poor little Lucy! She is ashamed of her father, although he has on a fine coat, and has gold buttons in his shirt."

"Ah my dear child," said the blacksmith, "God deals justly with us all; every one has a black spot somewhere. Some have it in grief in the heart, some as sin in the life, and others as poverty which makes them toil hard and live poorly. Thank your Heavenly Father, dear, if all the blackness you see on your father is on his face and hands; for the fine gentleman, whose child I fear you have envied, has a black heart, which shows itself in a wicked life. He has money, but that cannot make one happy or honored who does not fear God nor respect himself."

"Oh, father, dear," replied the child, "I shall never be ashamed of you again as long as I live, for there never was such a father as you are to me. I don't care how black your hands and face are."
